With 6,200 employees in research, teaching and administration and its unique profile, TU Dortmund University shapes prospects for the future: the interaction between engineering and natural sciences as well as social and cultural studies drives both technological innovations and progress in knowledge and methodology. It is not only the roughly 34,500 students who benefit from this.

The Faculty of Rehabilitation Sciences is one of the largest research and teaching institutions in Europe addressing the inclusion of people with disabilities, impairments and social disadvantages. It has established three research clusters: “Education, School, Inclusion”, “Work and Inclusion”, “Technology, Inclusion, Participation”. As a result of numerous university and non-university collaborations, the Faculty is embedded in an attractive research environment.

The Faculty of Rehabilitation Sciences at TU Dortmund University is seeking to fill the position of a starting as soon as possible. The successful candidate will specialize in research and teaching in the field of “Participation with language and communication disorders”.

Professor (W1) with W3 tenure track in “Participation with language and communication disorders”

TU Dortmund University is seeking a candidate with an excellent doctorate whose international (peer-reviewed) publications demonstrate a strong academic record. Independent research experience in one or more of the following areas is expected:

- Diagnostics and/or promotion of language and communicative skills
- Language acquisition and/or communication under difficult conditions

Research experience in technology-based procedures for language and communication promotion or diagnostics is an advantage.

Applicants are willing to actively participate in the faculty’s research and contribute to interdisciplinary collaborative research projects within and outside TU Dortmund.

An appropriate contribution to the faculty’s curriculum is expected.

The successful candidate will possess social and leadership skills and be willing to be involved in academic self-governance.

The recruitment requirements are based on § 36 and § 37 Hochschulgesetz NRW (law governing universities in NRW).

The appointment is initially for three years as a temporary civil servant. In the course of the third year, this status will be reviewed and may be extended for a further three years depending on performance. At the end of this six-year assistant professorship at the latest, the tenure track will lead to continued employment as a tenured W3 university professor, provided that the necessary aptitude, competence and academic performance have been demonstrated and that the legal requirements pertaining to § 38 HG NRW are met.

TU Dortmund University strives to increase the number of women in academic research and teaching and therefore explicitly encourages women to apply.

TU Dortmund University is an equal opportunity employer and gives preference to candidates with disabilities if equally qualified.

TU Dortmund University supports the compatibility of work and family life and promotes gender equality in science.
